The Project

Prydium is a project created in 2018 and aims to install a new currency in the market. With great proposals, the project promises to revolutionize, using encryption technology and blockchain to solve problems and bring great facilities to society.

We have developed an exclusive blockchain technology, capable of providing absolute security in crypto-transactions and completely transparent, revealing in real time all transactions on the blockchain's website.

We also have a payment system, which will aim to implement PRY as a payment method worldwide. The goal is to expand borders and make PRY a common and highly liquid crypto in the market.

A PRY monetization system is also being developed, the Income System. Deposits in it will guarantee a profitability of up to 80% of the investments. The measure is effective due to the fact that the user is collaborating with the retention of the asset, making it even more valuable.

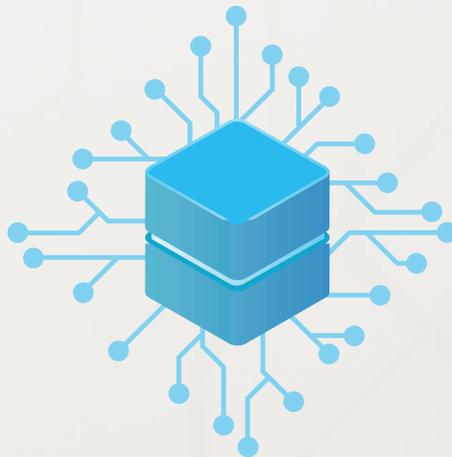

These are just some of the projects proposed by Prydium. Check all in detail in this whitepaper.

Our Blockchain technology

Blockchain technology is undoubtedly one of the key discoveries of this decade. Responsible for the development of cryptocurrencies and solutions for all types of business, this new technology will be a fundamental basis for the future. Hospitals, banks, large corporations, sports teams and major trading networks are already adapting and this proves how important this technology will be.

Prydium will have its exclusive blockchain and because of it, it will be an even more secure and transparent cryptocurrency. Through the blockchain, all people will be absolutely sure that their transactions will be incorruptible, as well as they will be able to verify in real time all the transactions carried out from the blockchain website, practically demonstrating its transparency and effectiveness.

A new, highly technological and effective cryptocurrency is emerging, Prydium is coming to make people's lives simpler, less bureaucratic, and free of government institutions, since cryptocurrencies are decentralized and fully regulated by the supply and demand law.

Scenario

That blockchain technology offers several features and positive advantages, a lot of people already know. After the cryptocurrencies, the digital payments began to increase significantly. In addition to that, almost every week a new cryptocurrency is released. However, despite all these advances and increases, this area is not yet fully exploited.

Low rates and free of barriers, speed, security and so many other features can be listed as positive for digital coins. But, they have not yet been implemented as a money transfer service or a global payment method.

Even so, new cryptocurrencies are launched all the time in the media, payment options increase every day, and become more diverse. And in the midst of all this, there are the people, the target audience of all these companies. This group lives in search of the best way to make the cryptocurrencies something more usual and part of their daily lives.

In addition, some of these people spend their days searching for signs to trade it at exchanges by their own. But only a few of them actually worked and became successful. And believe it, in addition to wasting time and work, they can also lose a lot of money. With this, companies like us, we lose too.

Solutions

We believe that for a case to really be solved, it must be worked on individually. Studying one by one, and uniting the experience of past cases, we have achieved our ultimate goal: to help our partners and solve the problems of people. Yes, people like you and us.

When we made the decision to start an ICO project, Prydium also decided to collaborate to create a universal, digital and decentralized payment method. We have decided to be part of a method that can simplify, help and show people that it is possible to have a quick, comfortable, easy, and safe income.

This is the safest money transfer service in the world, regardless of where the beneficiary is, payment is made instantly. Without leaving traces, without third parties and without worries.

ICO Sales

Since the beginning of 2017, it may be noticed a great growth of the market of ICOs. These “startups” use blockchain technology, which gains strength and attention every day. With ICOs, society has gradually changed the way it invests and creates new projects.

One of the reasons for this growth is the fact that these are investment opportunities that do not require so much bureaucracy and regulation by users or partners. The process works primarily between IPOs and a group of funders, such as a crowdfunding system.

In such a booming market, we at Prydium believe that security and trust are essential when it comes to investing. We know that whoever invests wants to invest in the right place.

Roadmap

Roadmap

Sale Process - API

Prydium has a collaborative ICO sale system. We will not have PRY for sale on our website. To purchase, people need to buy from our partners.

To become a Prydium partner and resell PRY, simply request the installation of our sales API on your website. Contact our team through our website <https://www.prydium.org>, fill in the form and wait for our contact.

This collaborative sales system is effective and promotes the interaction of many partners, creating a strong community early on.

Income System

When a person stores the currencies and does not sell them, it generates a high demand faced by a low supply for sale, causing the value of the asset to grow.

Knowing that many people believe in the Prydium project and will invest without the pretense of sudden sale, we will launch a system that will monetize the PRYs that are kept within it.

This is the Income System. The PRYs that are within this system will yield up to 80% within a year. The system will be launched soon, as it appears in the project roadmap.
